In South Paris

Statements of South Paris Citizens Are Aways of Interest to Our Readers.

To many of our readers the streets of South Paris are almost as familiar as those of our own town, and we are naturally interested to read of happenings there.

The following report from a well-known and respected resident will be helpful to numbers of men and women here in Norway.

"I suffered from pains in the small of my back and if I stooped, it was hard for me to straighten," says Irving Merrill, stationary engineer, of Alpine St., South Paris, Me. "I noticed that the kidney secretions were unnatural and irregular in passage. I got Doan's Kidney Pills and after I had used three boxes, the trouble had gone. I am glad to confirm my previous public endorsement of this remedy."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Merrill had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

HIRAM.

Children's Sunday was observed at the Universalist Church, June 21. The children of the village and vicinity, some sixty in number, met at the schoolhouse and marched to the church under the direction of the teachers, Mrs. Celia H. Sanborn, Addie Blake and Nellie L. Rankin. The church was decorated as usual by Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Merrill, with beautiful flowers, stars and crosses.

The music was rendered by Mrs. H. H. Hoyt, Vera Hoyt and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Sadler. The sermon, from the text, "Behold the lilies of the field," was one of Mr. Hoyt's best efforts, filled with inspiring and uplifting thoughts. It must be that some forceful ideas were lodged permanently in the minds of the young and happy children, perchance to influence their destiny forever.

Mrs. Hoyt is a poetess and musician of rare ability and has composed and set to music several beautiful hymns. The centennial committee has requested her to compose an ode for the Hiram Centennial of Aug. 12.

John Cotton is ill. Vera Hoyt of East Hiram graduated this year from Westbrook Seminary at the head of her class with a perfect record of 100. She was the valedictorian of her class.

Of twenty-four voters who resided in the Spring school district in 1870, Llewellyn A. Wadsworth alone survives.

Helen and Margaret Jordan of North Bridgton were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Smith, one day last week.

Comrade George Seavey, a Civil War veteran of the Eleventh Maine Regiment Infantry, has been visiting veterans and friends in Waterford and attended the Memorial day services at Elmvale cemetery in company of the W. R. C. of North Waterford. Austin Hutchinson of North Waterford was also a guest on that day.

Dr. G. B. Sylvester's fine cottage and spacious grove on the south shore of Echo Lake has been leased for the summer to Prof. Ralph E. Guillo, who is physical director of the Y. M. C. A. of Haverhill, Mass. Prof. Guillo, with his wife, Mrs. Ula, a native Bridgton girl, came last week, accompanied by a number of young men and boys whose homes are in Winchester, Mass., and took formal possession of the Sylvester property, which, under the new occupancy is known as "Guillo's Physical Culture Camp." The names of the boys now in camp and tents are: Earl Goldsmith, Frank Black, Abel Jewett, Kenneth Flanders, Erskine Kelley, Dorothy Kelly, a young girl of Winchester, is present under the special care of Prof. and Mrs. Guillo. A number of young Haverhill boys are expected to join the Guillo Camp this week. For convenience of the members of the camp a large motor boat, row boats and a canoe are provided for general water sports and to facilitate the necessary business of the camp. About a half mile distant from the north shore, in Frank Billings' pasture, a tennis court is graded and finely surfaced for the use of the Guillo Camp, which is quickly reached by motor boat or row boat.

June 27th was celebrated as Children's Day by Bear Mountain Grange. After a brief session the large number of waiting invited guests were admitted and an excellent program of literary and musical exercises contributed exclusively by the children for whose pleasure the festive occasion was provided, was announced by W. L. W. K. Hamlin, as follows:

Song, My old Kentucky home..... Choir Recitation, Watch the corners..... Recitation, A great man..... Annie Grover Song, Great little island..... Ruth Kneeland Recitation, Jackie Horner..... Gartrude Abbott Why is it..... Ruth Kneeland Song, Stick to your mother, Mary..... Original essay, Alice Kneeland Star Holiday..... Rita Merrill

This contribution, considering the youth and inexperience of the young people of the grammar grade, was a composition of great merit and was read in a graceful and with distinct emotion.

Song, The farmer..... Velmer Fitzpatrick performance of singing and dancing was highly appreciated.

Recitation, Feast of Life, Longfellow..... Orpha Sias

Diagrams, The removal of the earth..... Rita Merrill, Arnold Merrill, Virginia Worth, Clinton Kilgore, Frank Pike.

This act was attended by an impressive harangue by the chief address, by an interruption of several blacksmiths' aprons and capped, many other sero-comic incidents, and an uproar from both wings of the stage equal to several saw mills and a boiler factory. But it was only a "Moving."

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Priest of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Greenleaf of Mr. and Mrs. Charles York of Auburn are guests of Oak Lodge.

Mrs. Augusta Young is having her dwelling house and front of the postoffice painted white with panels in color.

Why Pay Extra for Dried-Up Tobacco?

That's what you do when you buy chopped-up tobacco in a tin, bag or foil wrapping. You pay extra for the package—and get dried-up tobacco that burns fast and hot and bites your tongue.

When you buy Sickle Plug you get more tobacco, because there's no package to pay for. You get better tobacco, because all the flavor and moisture are pressed into the plug, and kept there by the natural leaf wrapper. You whittle a pipeful of the plug as you need it—and you're always sure of fresh tobacco that burns slowly, and smokes cool and sweet.

Convenient and economical. Doesn't crowd your pocket—no tobacco spilled and wasted. Try Sickle today—your dealer sells it.

WHEN YOU ARE NERVOUS

you have the first symptom of a run-down system, and nervous people too often conceal their aches and pains and suffer in silence, while, if neglected, this condition often becomes more serious trouble.

If those so afflicted would stop taking medicine containing alcohol or drugs which menace the foundations of health, and just take the pure, strengthening, nourishing Scott's Emulsion, it would create new blood to pulsate through the organs, refresh their bodies and build up the whole nervous system. It is rich, sustaining nourishment, free from wines, alcohols or drugs. Shun substitutes.

DOESN'T THIS PROVE ITS TRUE WORTH?

L. Decker & Son of Clinton, Maine, write us this:

"We commenced selling 'L. T.' Atwood's Medicine in 1868. There are not many days when we do not sell from one to three bottles."

Clinton is NOT a big city. It's only one of hundreds of places where even a bigger demand exists all the time.

The reason? "L. T." Atwood's Medicine, for over 60 years, has afforded relief from stomach troubles, biliousness, constipation and liver complaints.

Try it today — be benefitted and convinced.

Edison Shorey of the Bridgton News has never made any attempt to conceal his dislike for Maine's new primary law. Speaking of Bridgton's experience in the recent primary, he says: "With the town officials, including the town clerk and a special quartette of clerks, ballot and election, on duty and upon pay, all the afternoon, with all the paraphernalia, prescribed by the law, in this thriving 2,000-population town, the general caucus, of the enrolled of three parties, resulted in a vote of 129, 81 of the Democratic persuasion and 48 Republican, in the aggregate about half the number usually coming out to the party caucuses. There was no excitement or running to and fro, as monotonous as an old-time prayer meeting where shouting was not permissible. While the Democrats got out more votes, presumably for the reason that there were more contestants between aspirants in that political hopscotch, one of the characteristics of the new order of procedure is that—excepting where there are contestants—the one who gets the endorsement of the few is nominated just as effectively and heartily as the one who gets double the number, as in the case of our two candidates for representatives to the legislature; as also as to governor, congressman and some others. All are winners!"

Farms and Farmers

George H. Dunn of Norway says in the Department of Agriculture Bulletin:

"I do not feed the herd as a herd. Cows differ in their tastes and requirements in the way of food, just as human beings do, although perhaps not to the same extent."

"To feed all cows in a herd alike, day after day and month after month, as is often done, is an absurd and wasteful practice. Some are sure not to get enough for the the greatest profit and others are likely to get more than they will use to advantage. This is in regard to quantity only; but difference in kinds of feed may be equally desirable."

"I feed 14 to 20 pounds of ensilage and from 12 to 16 pounds of clover or mixed hay per day, according to the individual cow; and a grain ration consisting of 200 lbs. cottonseed meal, 200 lbs. bran or mixed feed, 100 lbs. ground oats, 100 lbs. corn meal, 125 lbs. Ajax flakes. To the mature cows I feed one pound of three pounds of milk. The reason for feeding the heifers more than the mature cows is to keep up a good flow of milk and keep them growing at the same time. This I find to be a very satisfactory ration for the production of milk."

Raising of Young Stock.

"The calf is taken from the cow as soon as the milk is good and is taught to drink; it is given four to six pounds of whole milk, according to the individual calf, and as it grows older the milk is increased until the calf gets seven pounds and as the calf needs more drink, water is added. The milk is weighed every feed until the calf is at least three months old. The calf is given milk until it is six months old, at least. When skimmed milk is fed it is given longer."

"All milks are kept clean and sweet and the pens are kept clean and dry. A box is put in the pen after the calf is two weeks' old and some dry grain is put in it. It is surprising to see how quickly they will learn to eat grain."

"Spring calves are kept in the barn the first summer. Fall calves are let out the next summer in the daytime and taken in at night; they can then be fed some grain and in this way are kept growing. I want a calf to grow every day, from the time it is born till it gets to maturity. To raise good calves, one cannot have any guesswork about it; they must know just what you are doing."

NOBODY LOVES HIM.

Everybody knows the man that nobody loves and everybody has had a visit from him since the first of the month. He is the most unjustly unpopular man that lives and moves and has his being among the human race.

He seeks to make his fellows do only what they have bound themselves deliberately to do, and yet such scowls and black looks greet him on his rounds that a foreigner would think him a traitor to his country and a enemy to society.

His business is to see to it that men live up to the obligations which they voluntarily entered into, but men seeing him coming afar off flee as from the pestilence. He is the greatest receiver of evil tribulation in the world wide. Evasion of the laws pales beside the evasion of the bill collector.

Men who make debts they cannot or will not pay blame it on the collector. With many men the polite presentation of a statement of account by a suave and mannerly young business man is just like waving a scarlet blanket in the face of a bull with the toothache. There are men who almost throw fits when bills are courteously proffered, and yet if the collector will patiently listen and then say with fine haughty manner, "Oh, is that the way you feel about it, you need not pay it at all; we'd rather lose the money than have you suffer that way," the debtor will promptly come around and apologize for having made a fool of himself.

The bill collector is indispensable. We could not do without him if we would. Some are so polite and companionable that we deliberately dribble them along loath to part with such delightful company, making such small payments that they are compelled to call again. The bill collector is a real benefactor, because he makes us live up to obligations.

He teaches promptness and punctuality. Only he and death are our certain visitors. He is usually a model of that patience and perseverance which ultimately achieve their purpose. The bill collector, long denied, oft rebuffed, finally succeeds in persuading us to give him what is his, so that he may "render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's."

AUNT JENNIE'S BAKING DAY

Or a Loaf of Brownbread.

Eleazar Dunham, son of Sylvanus and Rebecca (Crocker) Dunham, of Jarver, Mass., was born in 1761, married Jane Bryant of Plympton, Mass., about 1798 or 1799, and settled in Paris, near Snow's Falls. Jane Bryant was the youngest daughter of Joseph and Zephia (Sampson) Bryant of Plympton, Mass.

They had a large family, Jane, Zephia, Eleazar, Hannah, Elanson, Lucy, Lucinda, Sampson, Isaac, Marinda and Asa Thomas. She often told me she had fourteen children, but two of them I never saw.

Zephia married Nathan Marshall, and she looked the most like her mother, "Aunt Jennie," as she was called by her most familiar friends. She had bright, lovely, brown eyes, and a most beautiful expression always on her face, and was very entertaining in her conversation.

Now comes my true story for I went to live with this dear family when I was about fifteen years of age. They lived in South Paris then, and Aunt Jennie must have been about eighty years old and very feeble. Their daughter, Lucinda, always lived at home for she was an invalid, and a great care to them in their old age. By hiring some one to help them they got along. As I would help her dress in the morning, she would walk out with but little help, sit down to the table, eat her breakfast with us, then go back to her bed. She never sat in a chair while I worked there. Near her bed, at the foot was what they called a "turned-up bed" for me, so I could be near and have the care of her nights as well as days.

There was a little fireplace in the room, and she often wanted me to light her pipe. Well, as this was a part of what I was expected to do, I tried my best to please her in this. I found much self denial for it was very disgusting to me always, and right here I learned much of the most to girls would not do for "love or money." Now I will tell you about our baking day.

Aunt Jennie always came out to help me that day, dear old lady, she was feeble and it was hard for her. We did not have any stove, and one week Uncle Dunham would build a fire in the brick oven, with some special oven wood, which he always kept ready; after she thought it had burned along enough, she would tell me how to clear out the oven, and sweep it clean with a brush broom. Then I would heat the wooden bread-trough and she would mix the rye and Indian meal with molasses and water; then she would ask me to bring along the "bread-pan," a long handled wooden shovel you would call it, over this she would sprinkle her special mix of her loaf of brownbread on it, and after dipping her hands in water she would smooth it all up. Then she would ask me to carry it along to the oven on the bread-pan, and she would take hold of the long handle, push it along to the back part of the oven and give it a quick jerk which always placed the loaf just where she intended it should be, on the bottom of the oven, for she had done that many times before.

Then she would have me put some milk in the jobe kettle, and hang it on the crane over the fire in the "fire place," put in some milk, and make an Indian pudding, and this we put in the brick oven to bake. Then she had to leave me to do the rest, though with much tribulation. I made apple pies, and sometimes a loaf of white bread, and filled the "mouth" of the oven (as they called the front part); always there was a pot of pork and beans, and sometimes an earthen pot of apple sauce. "The beans would last most of the week, and the big loaf of bread would last the whole week, and give it a quick jerk which always placed the loaf just where she intended it should be, on the bottom of the oven, for she had done that many times before."

Cooking by the fire place was very warm in summer, and my face and hands would look very much like a leopard's, but it always came off, and I looked none the worse for it, and it did not degrade me at all. Once mother came to see me after I had been cooking by the fire, and I had some hands that looked very black, but I said, "Mother, I don't care, I have got some money saved." I had fifty cents a week, always in silver, which Uncle Dunham would put each Saturday night on the shelf for me.

They then lived in the house opposite the brick stove, owned then by Bjorl Hall and for many years afterwards, Alva Shortell lived there.

THE WHOLE BODY NEEDS PURE BLOOD

It Means Healthy Nutrition—Hood's Sarsaparilla Makes It.

The bones, the muscles, and all the organs of the body depend for their strength and tone and healthy action on pure blood.

If the blood is very impure, the bones become diseased; the muscles become enfeebled, the step loses its elasticity, and there is its glazy skin, perform the usual amount of labor. The skin loses its clearness, and pimples, blotches and other eruptions appear.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood. It is positively unequalled in the treatment of scrofula and other humors, catarrh, rheumatism, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, that tired feeling and general debility. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a pure, safe and effective remedy. There is no other medicine like it. Be sure to get Hood's and get it today.

OXFORD.

Flood-Barker.
The wedding of Allen E. Barker, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan E. Barker, to Alvan S. Flood of Falmouth, formerly of Oxford, took place at the home of the bride's parents, at Naples, at high noon, Thursday, June 25, Rev. E. F. Doughty officiating. The double ring service was used.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mabel Barker, and the best man was George Edes of Naples. Howard Dearbourn played the wedding march. A score of relatives witnessed the ceremony.

Among the many handsome gifts testifying to the best wishes of their friends were hand painted china, cut glass pieces, silver, hand embroidered table linen and guest towels, glass set, mirror, pictures, carving set, toilet set and two substantial checks from the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Flood, of Oxford. After the wedding dinner the happy couple hastily departed by auto to spend their honeymoon somewhere known only to themselves. They will make their home in Falmouth Foreside.

EAST OTISFIELD NEWS.
Scrubner Hill was all excitement when the news was phoned around. That they planned to have a social at the library, a welcome sound!

It was supper time on Saturday. All were tired with a week's work done, and there was no work to finish. Ere another week began.

Never mind the fire and labor! Through the work that night we darted. Then we made a hasty toilet.

Harnessed the horse, and off we started. On and on we urged our good steed. For the time seemed flying by.

All at once we stopped, we listened. From far away we heard a cry.

A horse was down and rolling over; Woman's strength was never made To unbind that tight harness.

So we lent a welcome aid. Once again we started eastward. At the corner we stopped, for lo!

There we met a crowd of people. All dressed up, no place to go. The library was in utter darkness.

Rebilly fastened was the door. So the disappointed young folks Mostly turned toward the street.

Did we go home? Well, I guess not. We started straight for the town hall. There bright lights and lively music.

Faith us for our trouble all. In this world are many evils. Many sins and many harms.

But the greatest disappointment Comes from spreading false alarms.

Socialist
County Commissioner—Ralph E. Day, Bethel.....9
Raymond K. Knowlton, Rumford.....35

W. H. Woodworth, Paris.....45
A. E. Forbes, Frank A. Farrar and G. W. Q. Perham are the candidates in the legislative district of Paris, Hebron and Woodstock.

Chas. C. Beckler, Fred L. Edwards and Frank H. Maxfield are candidates in the legislative district of Bethel, Hanover, Mason, Lovell, Sweden, Stoneham, Albany, Greenwood, Milton Pl. and all other unclassified territory.

Chas. E. Cobb and Adolphus D. Fessenden are candidates in the legislative district of Brownfield, Fryeburg, Porter, Hiram, Denmark and Stow.

Walter G. Morse, Richard L. Melcher, Josiah F. Hall and Silva J. Gonyea are candidates in the Rumford district.

Frank P. Thomas and Burton W. Goodwin are candidates in the legislative district of Mexico, Andover, Newry, Upton, Grafton, Gilead, Byron, Roxbury, Lincoln Pl., Magalloway Pl. and Riley.

Addison Millett, Leslie E. McIntire and Harry P. Green are candidates in the legislative districts of Waterville, Oxford and Norway.

It will be seen from the above the Socialists have candidates in the Rumford and Greenwood districts and the Progressives in the Rumford, Woodstock and Norway districts, therefore in the other four districts the contest is between the two old parties.

EAST OTISFIELD NEWS.
Scitiner Hill was all excitement when the news was phoned around. That they planned to have a social at the library, a welcome sound!

It was supper time on Saturday. All were tired with a week's work done, and tired was yet work to finish. Ere another week begun.

Never mind the fire and labor! Through the work that night we darted; Then we made a hasty toilet. Harnessed the horse, and off we started. On and on we urged our good steed, For the time seemed flying by; All at once we stopped, we listened. From in front we heard a cry: A horse was down and rolling over; Woman's strength was never made To unbundle that tight harness, — So we left a welcome sound.

Once again we started eastward, At the corner we stopped, for lo! There we met a crowd of people. All dressed up, no place to go. The library was in utter darkness, dimly lighted was the door; So the disappointed young folks Mostly turned toward the street called Fore. Did we go home? Well, it goes not. We started straight for the town hall; There bright lights and lively music Felt us for our trouble all.

In this world are many evils, Many sins and many harms; But the greatest disappointment Comes from spreading false alarms.

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

The New Perfection No. 5 Stove, with the Fireless Cooking Oven, is the latest addition to the famous New Perfection line of cook-stoves. Pull the damper of this fireless oven and it becomes a perfect fireless cooker. It uses only one burner—saves half the fuel cost. You can start the supper right after lunch, and let it cook itself, while you spend the afternoon outdoors.

New Perfection Stoves bake, broil, roast, toast—everything any other stove will do, and they cost less for fuel. No handling of coal and ashes—all the cooking heat you want, just when you want it. New Perfection Stoves are made in 1, 2, 3, and 4-burner sizes. No. 5 stove is sold complete with broiler, toaster, and fireless oven. Regular oven, broiler and toaster can be obtained separately for smaller sizes. Sad-iron heater and cook-book free with every stove.

OLD FOLKS FIND NEW REMEDY RELIEVES ALL KIDNEY AND BLADDER MISERIES

Drives Rheumatic Pains Away, Relieves Backache and Bladder Disorders After A Few Doses Are Taken

Sleep disturbing bladder weaknesses, backache, rheumatism, and the many other kindred ailments which so commonly come with declining years, need no longer be a source of dread and misery to those who are past the middle age of life.

The new discovery, Croxone, overcomes all such disorders because it removes the very cause of the trouble. It soaks right into the kidneys, through the walls and linings; cleans out the little filtering glands and cells, and gives the kidneys new strength to do their work properly. It neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid substances that lodge in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; and makes the kidneys filter and sift out all the poisonous waste matter from the blood and drive it out of the system.

It matters not how old you are or how long you have suffered, Croxone is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work immediately and more than a few doses are seldom required to relieve even the most chronic, obstinate cases.

It is the most wonderful remedy ever made for restoring the lifeless organs to health and strength and ridding the system of every particle of uric acid, and you can take it with the utmost confidence that nothing on earth will so quickly cure such conditions.

You can obtain an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone should fail in a single case.
